

My Prerogative

Whether you're feeling grounded, centered, or flying high, the My Prerogative collection of table lamps suits your mood—and décor.

Designer Laura Spector takes a cue from nature—and Bobby Brown and Britney—with her collection of one of a kind lamps.

Each lamp has a unique central focal point. be it a slab of petrified wood, a knot , knarly, burl root or rock. With an artist's eye, Ms Spector extracts forms found in nature and transforms them into objects that look beautiful and work beautifully. Pictured above, a wing-shaped, open armed form rests on a blackened steel base, grounding the pale wood, so that it appears to float.

My designs illuminate the essential beauty of the organic form and trace the connection between nature and our perceptions about it.

Best of all? So that “you can make your own decision,” the branch is height-adjustable, thanks to a hidden interior clamp.

It's your Prerogative
